Theriologia Ukrainica

East European Journal of Mammalogy

Published by the National Museum of Natural History,
Kyiv Ukraine

Theriologia Ukrainica is a scientific peer-reviewed journal established in 1998 by the Ukrainian Theriological Society and formerly published as Proceedings of the Theriological School.

The journal publishes original research and review articles on various aspects of mammalian biology, in particular fauna, ecology, distribution, evolution, taxonomy, variability, diversity, and conservation. Studies on the history of mammalogical science and collection-based research are also welcome.

An important aspect of the journal's policy is the search for and support of new authors and early-career scientists.

The journal is approved by the Ministry of Education and Science of Ukraine as a specialised professional edition in the fields of biology, ecology, and forestry (game management).

Manuscripts are accepted in English or Ukrainian and must be submitted via e-mail to mammalia@ukr.net by the corresponding author. Submission and publication of articles are free of charge.

The Editorial Board ensures the highest standards of academic ethics and a consistent and fair editorial policy. Peer-review is single blind, and authors must submit a conflict of interest statement prior to publication.

All papers published in the journal are open-access and available on the web site of the Ukrainian Theriological Society (www.terioshkola.org.ua) and of Vernadsky National Library of Ukraine (www.nbuv.gov.ua).
